

I got on the do not call list, but sometimes the calls still come through. I don't understand it. They are most annoying. I believe the telemarketing businesses want to do away with the list because of obvious reasons; telemarketing jobs. I feel unsympathetic when I get call after call selling me something I do not want.

Walter J. Tate